The SCERTS Model

A Comprehensive Educational Approach for Children with Autism Spectrum Disorders and Related Developmental Disabilities

With: Dr. Barry Prizant Ph.D., CCC-SLP

Save The Date!!!

May 17th and 18th 2013

Stepping Stones Learning Center of Rochester NY, is very excited to announce a two day workshop with Dr. Barry Prizant, founder of the SCERTS model. The SCERTS model is a flexible and individualized approach that is: 1) grounded within a developmental framework 2) focused on learning functional every day skills in every day activities 3) based on the unique learning style of children with ASD 4) team based, providing a framework that allows for interdisciplinary practice and collaboration with family members.

In this workshop, assessment and intervention issues will be addressed for children with a wide range of developmental abilities and ages, including preverbal and verbal children, from preschool children through primary, middle and high school ages. Particular emphasis will be given to the core challenges faced by students with ASD and related abilities emphasizing the interface between social, emotional, and communication issues from a clinical and educational perspective.

This is a tremendous opportunity for parents and providers, as Dr. Prizant does not get to the New York area frequently! Look for registration information in early 2013!! If you have any questions, please contact Mary Richardson at mary@steppingstoneslearning.com or 585-467-4567. ASHA CEUs will be offered.

Time: Friday 5/17 8:00—4:00, Saturday 5/18 8:00—3:30

Location: Casa Larga 2287 Turk Hill Road Fairport NY 14450

Continental breakfast and lunch provided both days!
